The Mystery of the Missing Toy

Leo's favorite toy, a small blue robot named Bolt, was missing. He looked under his bed, in his closet, and even in the toy box, but Bolt was nowhere to be found. He felt a little sad because he always played with Bolt before bedtime. Leo went to the kitchen to ask his mom if she had seen it. "Hmm, I'm not sure, honey," she said while washing dishes. "Did you check the backyard?" Leo hadn't thought of that. He put on his shoes and went outside. He saw his younger sister, Mia, playing in the sandbox. She was digging with a small, blue shovel. Then, he saw it—a tiny blue antenna sticking out of the sand. He ran over and carefully brushed the sand away. There was Bolt, his robot, safe and sound! Mia must have borrowed it. Leo laughed and picked up his robot. He was so happy he had found his friend.
